A website redesign makes sense when your current site is getting in the way of calls, form leads, or day-to-day trust with local customers. For contractors and home service companies, a website should do a few simple things well. It should look good on a phone, make it easy for people to call, show real reviews, and send leads to you fast.

If your site is missing those basics, a website redesign may be the right move.

Scalable Websites builds and manages mobile-first websites for contractors, home service businesses, and local small businesses. The company is based in Montgomery, TX, and works with businesses across Montgomery County and greater Houston, including Montgomery, Magnolia, The Woodlands, Conroe, Willis, Spring, Tomball, Cypress, Kingwood, Humble, Houston, Katy, and Sugar Land.

Signs your current website may need a redesign

A redesign is not always about making a site look newer. A lot of times, it is about making the site work better for the way customers actually shop.

If your site has any of these problems, it may be time to take a hard look at it:

web design montgomery tx

- It is not mobile-first or easy to use on a phone
- It does not have click-to-call or clear lead forms
- It is not showing Google reviews on the site
- It is not sending instant text and email alerts when a lead comes in
- It has not been kept up with updates, backups, or security

For many contractors, the phone is still the main way business gets done. If someone lands on your site from a truck, driveway, or jobsite and cannot quickly call or fill out a form, that is a problem. The same goes for reviews. People want proof that you are legitimate before they reach out.

Another common issue is maintenance. A lot of small business website design projects start strong, then get ignored. Over time, that can create trouble with uptime, security, and outdated information. If your site is not being managed properly, a redesign tied to ongoing website maintenance can be the better long-term fix.

What a redesign should improve

A solid website redesign should not just swap colors and photos. It should improve the parts of the site that help your business run smoother.

Every site from Scalable Websites includes click-to-call, Google reviews shown on the site, custom lead forms with instant text and email alerts, on-page SEO from day one, and hosting and security. Those are practical features for contractor website design because they help visitors take action without extra steps.

A redesign may also make sense if your current site does not fit your business anymore. Maybe you started with a simple page and now need more room website designer montgomery tx to explain services. Maybe your business serves more areas now. Maybe your team needs a better way to track leads and keep the site updated.

For businesses in web design Montgomery TX, web design The Woodlands, and nearby areas, the goal is usually the same. You want a site that is clear, easy to manage, and built to support calls and inquiries from local customers.

When a redesign is better than small fixes

Sometimes a few updates are enough. Other times, patching the old site just drags the problem out.

A redesign is usually the better option when the site structure is too limited, when important features are missing, or when the site is not being maintained the way it should be. If you need more than a few edits, starting fresh can be cleaner than trying to force an old setup to do a new job.

Scalable Websites offers custom web design, website redesign, custom WordPress websites, and website maintenance. The maintenance side includes unlimited update requests, security updates, uptime monitoring, daily offsite backups, and a dedicated project manager. That matters because a redesign is not only about launch day. It is also about what happens after the site is live.

For some businesses, a single-page site may still be enough. Others need a broader setup with 3 to 5 pages or even 10 or more pages. The available plans reflect that. Starter is $95 a month for a single-page site. Growth is $195 a month for 3 to 5 pages and includes missed-call text-back, unlimited lead follow-up, Search Console, and Google Analytics. AI Enhanced is $295 a month for 10 or more pages and includes blogging, priority support, AI SMS and chat, and SEO citations.

Every plan has a 6-month minimum, then goes month-to-month. The client owns the site after 36 months. There is also a free design refresh every 36 months and a 30-day money-back guarantee on signup.

Why local contractors often choose a redesign

Contractors usually do not need a complicated website. They need one that helps them look credible and makes it easy for customers to reach out. That is why website redesign projects often come down to simple questions. Can people call you fast? Can they trust what they see? Can you respond to leads right away?
