Key Factors to Consider Before Clicking "Add to Cart"

To prevent purchaser's regret, consumers need to evaluate a number of vital factors before acquiring a treadmill online.

1. Motor Power (CHP)

The motor is the heart of any treadmill. Determined in Continuous Horsepower (CHP), it determines how smoothly and reliably the belt will move under your weight.

- 1.5 to 2.0 CHP: Best for walkers and light joggers.
- 2.5 to 3.0 CHP: Ideal for routine joggers and homes with mixed-use walking and running.
- 3.0+ CHP: Essential for major runners, heavy day-to-day usage, and period training.

2. Running Deck Size

Nothing ruins a workout much faster than feeling like you will step off the back of the device.

- Length: Walkers can get away with a 45-to-50-inch deck, but anyone who runs or is taller than 5 feet, 8 inches ought to search for a deck that is at least 55 to 60 inches long.
- Width: A standard width of 20 inches supplies comfy clearance for many runners.

3. Weight Capacity

Always check the optimum user weight capability. As a rule of thumb, it is best to pick a treadmill with a weight limit that is at least 50 pounds much heavier than the heaviest user in your home. This ensures the motor and frame won't be exhausted.

4. Cushioning Systems

If you have delicate joints (knees, hips, or lower back), search for treadmills with adjustable or boosted cushioning systems. Excellent shock absorption can minimize effect by as much as 30% compared to working on asphalt.
