CSGO gambling sites are third-party online platforms where users can wager virtual weapon skins, cryptocurrency, or fiat currency on video games of chance or skill. Unlike standard online gambling establishments, these sites are uniquely connected to video game culture.

The system started with "skin wagering." Valve, the developer of Counter-Strike, introduced weapon cases and secrets in 2013. Players could trade these items on the Steam Community Market. Soon, third-party designers understood these virtual products could operate as digital currency, resulting in the development of independent betting websites.
